Most people read words more accurately than they spell them. The younger pupils are, the truer this is.

By the end of year 1, pupils should be able to read a large number of different words containing the GPCs that they have learnt, whether or not they have seen these words before. Spelling, however, is a very different matter. Once pupils have learnt more than one way of spelling particular sounds, choosing the right letter or letters depends on their either having made a conscious effort to learn the words or having absorbed them less consciously through their reading. Younger pupils have not had enough time to learn or absorb the accurate spelling of all the words that they may want to write.

This appendix provides examples of words embodying each pattern which is taught. Many of the words listed as ‘example words’ for years 1 and 2, including almost all those listed as ‘exception words’, are used frequently in pupils’ writing, and therefore it is worth pupils learning the correct spelling. The ‘exception words’ contain GPCs which have not yet been taught as widely applicable, but this may be because they are applicable in very few age-appropriate words rather than because they are rare in English words in general.

The word-lists for years 3 and 4 and years 5 and 6 are statutory. The lists are a mixture of words pupils frequently use in their writing and those which they often misspell. Some of the listed words may be thought of as quite challenging, but the 100 words in each list can easily be taught within the four years of key stage 2 alongside other words that teachers consider appropriate.

The rules and guidance are intended to support the teaching of spelling. Phonic knowledge should continue to underpin spelling after key stage 1; teachers should still draw pupils’ attention to GPCs that do and do not fit in with what has been taught so far. Increasingly, however, pupils also need to understand the role of morphology and etymology. Although particular GPCs in root words simply have to be learnt, teachers can help pupils to understand relationships between meaning and spelling where these are relevant. For example, understanding the relationship between medical and medicine may help pupils to spell the /s/ sound in medicine with the letter ‘c’. Pupils can also be helped to spell words with prefixes and suffixes correctly if they understand some general principles for adding them. Teachers should be familiar with what pupils have been taught about spelling in earlier years, such as which rules pupils have been taught for adding prefixes and suffixes.

The International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) is used to represent sounds (phonemes). A table showing the IPA is provided in this document.
Spelling – work for year 1

Revision of reception work

Statutory requirements

The boundary between revision of work covered in Reception and the introduction of new work may vary according to the programme used, but basic revision should include:

- all letters of the alphabet and the sounds which they most commonly represent
- consonant digraphs which have been taught and the sounds which they represent
- vowel digraphs which have been taught and the sounds which they represent
- the process of segmenting spoken words into sounds before choosing graphemes to represent the sounds
- words with adjacent consonants
- guidance and rules which have been taught

Statutory requirements

- The /iː/ sound spelt –ey

- The /ɒ/ sound spelt a after w and qu

- The /ɜː/ sound spelt or after w

- The /ɔː/ sound spelt ar after w

- The /ɔ/ sound spelt s

- The suffixes –ment, –ness, –ful, –less and –ly

Rules and guidance (non-statutory)

- The plural of these words is formed by the addition of –s (donkeys, monkeys, etc.).

- a is the most common spelling for the /ɒ/ ('hot') sound after w and qu.

- There are not many of these words.

- There are not many of these words.

- If a suffix starts with a consonant letter, it is added straight on to most root words without any change to the last letter of those words.

Exceptions:

1. argument
2. root words ending in –y with a consonant before it but only if the root word has more than one syllable.

Example words (non-statutory)

- key, donkey, monkey, chimney, valley

- want, watch, wander, quantity, squash

- word, work, worm, world, worth

- war, warm, towards

- television, treasure, usual

- enjoyment, sadness, careful, playful, hopeless, plainness (plain + ness), badly

- merriment, happiness, plentiful, penniless, happily

Contractions

- In contractions, the apostrophe shows where a letter or letters would be if the words were written in full (e.g. can’t – cannot).

- It’s means it is (e.g. It’s raining) or sometimes it has (e.g. It’s been raining), but it’s is never used for the possessive.

The possessive apostrophe (singular nouns)

- Megan’s, Ravi’s, the girl’s, the child’s, the man’s

Words ending in –tion

- station, fiction, motion, national, section

Notes and guidance (non-statutory)

Teachers should continue to emphasise to pupils the relationships between sounds and letters, even when the relationships are unusual. Once root words are learnt in this way, longer words can be spelt correctly, if the rules and guidance for adding prefixes and suffixes are also known.
Notes and guidance (non-statutory)

Examples:

business: once busy is learnt, with due attention to the unusual spelling of the /i/ sound as ‘u’, business can then be spelt as busy + ness, with the y of busy changed to i according to the rule.

disappear: the root word appear contains sounds which can be spelt in more than one way so it needs to be learnt, but the prefix dis– is then simply added to appear.

Understanding the relationships between words can also help with spelling. Examples:

- bicycle is cycle (from the Greek for wheel) with bi– (meaning ‘two’) before it.
- medicine is related to medical so the /s/ sound is spelt as c.
- opposite is related to oppose, so the schwa sound in opposite is spelt as o.

<td>Endings which sound like /ʃes/ spelt –cious or –tious</td>
<td>Not many common words end like this. If the root word ends in –ce, the /ʃ/ sound is usually spelt as c – e.g. vice – vicious, grace – gracious, space – spacious, malice – malicious. Exception: anxious.</td>
<td>vicious, precious, conscious, delicious, malicious, suspicious ambitious, cautious, fictitious, infectious, nutritious</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Endings which sound like /ʃel/</td>
<td>–cial is common after a vowel letter and –tial after a consonant letter, but there are some exceptions. Exceptions: initial, financial, commercial, provincial (the spelling of the last three is clearly related to finance, commerce and province).</td>
<td>official, special, artificial, partial, confidential, essential</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Words ending in –ant, –ance/–ancy, –ent, –ence/–ency</td>
<td>Use –ant and –ance/–ancy if there is a related word with a /æ/ or /eɪ/ sound in the right position; –ation endings are often a clue. Use –ent and –ence/–ency after soft c (/s/ sound), soft g (/dʒ/ sound) and qu, or if there is a related word with a clear /ɛ/ sound in the right position. There are many words, however, where the above guidance does not help. These words just have to be learnt.</td>
<td>observant, observance, (observation), expectant (expectation), hesitant, hesitancy (hesitation), tolerant, tolerance (toleration), substance (substantial) innocent, innocence, decent, decency, frequent, frequency, confident, confidence (confidential) assistant, assistance, obedient, obedience, independent, independence</td>

<td>Words ending in –able and –ible</td>
<td>The –able/–ably endings are far more common than the –ible/–ibly endings. As with –ant and –ance/–ancy, the –able ending is used if there is a related word ending in –ation.</td>
<td>adorable/adorably (adoration), applicable/applicably (application), considerable/considerably (consideration), tolerable/tolerably (toleration)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Words ending in –ably and –ibly</td>
<td>If the –able ending is added to a word ending in –ce or –ge, the e after the c or g must be kept as those letters would otherwise have their ‘hard’ sounds (as in cap and gap) before the a of the –able ending. The –able ending is usually but not always used if a complete root word can be heard before it, even if there is no related word ending in –ation. The first five examples opposite are obvious; in reliable, the complete word rely is heard, but the y changes to i in accordance with the rule. The –ible ending is common if a complete root word can’t be heard before it but it also sometimes occurs when a complete word can be heard (e.g. sensible).</td>
<td>changeable, noticeable, forcible, legible</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adding suffixes beginning with vowel letters to words ending in –fer</td>
<td>The r is doubled if the –fer is still stressed when the ending is added. The r is not doubled if the –fer is no longer stressed.</td>
<td>dependable, comfortable, understandable, reasonable, enjoyable, reliable</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use of the hyphen</td>
<td>Hyphens can be used to join a prefix to a root word, especially if the prefix ends in a vowel letter and the root word also begins with one.</td>
<td>possible/possibly, horrible/horribly, terrible/terribly, visible/visibly, incredible/incredibly, sensible/sensibly</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Adding suffixes beginning with vowel letters to words ending in –fer:

- The r is doubled if the –fer is still stressed when the ending is added.
- The r is not doubled if the –fer is no longer stressed.

Example words:

- referring, referred, referral
- preferring, preferred
- transferring, transferred
- reference, referee, preference, transference

Use of the hyphen:

- Hyphens can be used to join a prefix to a root word, especially if the prefix ends in a vowel letter and the root word also begins with one.

Notes and guidance (non-statutory)

Teachers should continue to emphasise to pupils the relationships between sounds and letters, even when the relationships are unusual. Once root words are learnt in this way, longer words can be spelt correctly if the rules and guidance for adding prefixes and suffixes are also known. Many of the words in the list above can be used for practice in adding suffixes.
Notes and guidance (non-statutory)
Understanding the history of words and relationships between them can also help with spelling.

Examples:
- Conscience and conscious are related to science: conscience is simply science with the prefix con- added. These words come from the Latin word scio meaning I know.
- The word desperate, meaning ‘without hope’, is often pronounced in English as desp’rate, but the –sper- part comes from the Latin spero, meaning ‘I hope’, in which the e was clearly sounded.
- Familiar is related to family, so the /æ/ sound in the first syllable of familiar is spelt as a.
The table below shows each symbol of the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) and provides examples of the associated grapheme(s).\(^6\) The table is not a comprehensive alphabetic code chart; it is intended simply as guidance for teachers in understanding the IPA symbols used in the spelling appendix (English Appendix 1). The pronunciations in the table are, by convention, based on Received Pronunciation and could be significantly different in other accents.
